PETIT VERDOT 2018

LOS CHACAYES, UCO VALLEY - MENDOZA

This wine was born in a 20-year-old vineyard at 4,059 feet / 1,230 meters a.s.l. located at the foothill of the Andes in the area of Chacayes, Uco Valley; Mendoza.

"WINES WITH A SENSE OF PLACE AND ADVENTURE"

SOIL

Free draining soil composed with alluvial sediments with predominance of clay and rock base with a stony, sandy surface. These characteristics are excellent for quality viticulture, as they stress the vines, leading to decreased vigor and lower yields.

CLIMATE

Very Dry and Continental with thermal temperature amplitude from 20 to 30 degrees fahrenheit. These will give slow and long ripening periods achieving rich and concentrated flavors, balanced sugars and acidity with phenolic ripeness.

TASTING NOTES

Deeply colored with floral notes of violet and lavender and smooth aromas of blackberry, blueberry and ripe plum. On the palate the wine is dry and full-bodied with high tannin, bold fruit and medium-plus acidity.
